AUTHOR AND PUBLISHER

BIOGRAPHY

TL James graduated with an MBA from Letourneau University. While attending there, she developed a knack for reaching and getting down into the weeds to find the delicate details. She also cultivated an interest in biblical studies and research. Little did TL know that her love for alternate history, her passion for research and her interest in biblical studies would become an integral thread in her writing style. She was building her literary writing formula.

After many sleepless nights, TL began penning her first speculative fictional book. With her newly born son tucked comfortably at her side, she developed the family drama storyline that showcases her love of research and biblical studies. She drew from other literary classics, such as Chaucer, Shakespeare and mythology, giving birth to the MPire Series.
